GRAMICCIONIS LAUNCH KINGSTON COVENTRY LLC

MANASQUAN, NJ - Kingston Coventry LLC, a boutique law firm founded by the former Monmouth County Prosecutor and a former NJ Superior Court judge, officially opens its doors today as a veteran-owned full-service law practice, specializing in internal and government investigations, compliance and risk-mitigation strategies, alternative dispute resolution, national security law, and white-collar criminal defense.

Co-founders Chris and Deb Gramiccioni met while serving as federal prosecutors at the United States Attorney's Office in Newark, NJ. Chris was responsible for trying cases in the public corruption and terrorism divisions and Deb oversaw its Commercial Crimes Unit. From there, Chris became Monmouth County's top prosecutor and chief law enforcement officer for the past decade while Deb went on to supervise fraud cases at the Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., run the Attorney General's Division of Criminal Justice, serve as Policy Chief and Director of the Authorities for Governor Chris Christie and later as Deputy Executive Director of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, and preside over cases as a superior court judge in New Jersey.

As a war-deployed naval officer, Chris currently holds the rank of Commander and will spearhead the firm's national security and cyber practice. According to Chris, "My military background is something I'm most proud of, and my international service enables me to offer a more nuanced, global perspective to problem-solving."

Co-founder Deb Gramiccioni has held sensitive leadership positions since 2004. "I believe my multi-dimensional leadership experience will provide Kingston Coventry with a unique range of capabilities, allowing us to offer top quality service to a broad client base," said Deb.

Kingston Coventry LLC will have offices in Parsippany and Manasquan, with the capabilities to serve clients on a national scale.
